Break Free From Data Overages: Freedom Mobile Introduces Unprecedented 100 GB Big Binge Bonus

Starting today, Canadians can stream without fear of expensive overage charges with 100 GBs of bonus fast LTE data

November 19, 2018 06:00 ET | Source: Shaw Communications Inc.

CALGARY, Alberta, Nov. 19, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Shaw

Communications' Freedom Mobile today announced the launch of Big Binge Bonus, an unprecedented limited-time offer that gives customers an astounding 100 GB of bonus fast LTE data in addition to their monthly data allotment. This bonus data can be used anytime — and it all comes at no additional cost.

“We’re continuing to find new and better ways to give consumers what they want, and that includes giving Canadians the freedom to binge their data usage without incurring expensive overage fees,” said Paul McAleese, President, Wireless, Shaw Communications. “Canadians are watching more video content, streaming more music, and using more data on their mobile devices every day. Our Big Binge Bonus gives Freedom Mobile customers the data they need, free of charge, so they can enjoy unrestrained access to their favourite content.”

Freedom Mobile’s Big Binge Bonus is now available for new and existing customers when they sign up for a Big Gig plan starting at $60 per month with a new handset on a two-year term. Additional data from the 100 GB Big Binge Bonus is automatically applied once a customer exceeds their monthly allotment. Big Binge Bonus data never expires so long as customers remain with Freedom Mobile on an eligible rate plan. Full terms and conditions of Big Binge Bonus can be found at freedommobile.ca/blackfriday.

their wireless provider. Our Big Binge Bonus builds on that momentum and presents Canadians with an unrivalled way to do what they want on their devices without worry.”

Big Binge Bonus is yet another step Freedom Mobile has taken to change what Canadians should expect from their wireless provider. Since introducing its iconic Big Gig rate plans a year ago, Freedom Mobile has continued to make significant improvements to its network to enhance customers’ experiences, including launching Extended Range LTE to provide subscribers with farther-reaching coverage and enhanced indoor LTE reception, as well as the introduction of VoLTE on select Apple, Samsung, LG, Motorola, Sony, Alcatel, and Google devices.

The Big Binge Bonus will be prominent in Freedom Mobile’s holiday advertising, featuring Emmy-nominated Canadian actor Will Arnett, reminding Canadians that they shouldn’t feel trapped in an expensive wireless data plan. While the holidays may be a time of excessive indulgence, consumers can switch to Freedom Mobile and binge their data whenever they want, guilt-free. The new campaign includes a mix of traditional radio, television and outdoor, along with digital video and banners and social advertising.

More information about Freedom Mobile’s 100 GB Big Binge Bonus offer can be found at freedommobile.ca/blackfriday.

Freedom Mobile Lowers Monthly Bills with Absolute Zero Phone-Included Offers and More Affordable Unlimited Plans

Innovative back-to-school promotion gives customers the latest phones included on a Big Gig Unlimited Data plan starting at $50/month

July 25, 2019

Share:

CALGARY, July 25, 2019 – Shaw Communications' Freedom Mobile is once again reducing the cost of wireless for Canadians with its Big Gig Unlimited plans and Absolute Zero promotions, which are featured in a new national advertising campaign marking the return of the notorious Monolithic Wireless and highlighting its unfair treatment of Canadian wireless customers.

"While other carriers are bringing back the hated three-year contract in a ploy to raise phone prices, Freedom Mobile has once again rewritten the industry's rules," said Paul McAleese, President, Wireless, Shaw Communications. "Instead, for this year's back-to-school promotion, Freedom Mobile is including a phone — on us — with every Big Gig Unlimited plan we sell. With Absolute Zero that means customers can get the premium branded phones they love and pay $0 upfront, $0 extra each month and $0 extra at the end of our standard two-year commitment."

Freedom Mobile will be supporting the Absolute Zero promotion with a new advertising campaign that once again pits Emmy-nominated Canadian actor Will Arnett against the shadowy figures of the fictional company Monolithic Wireless. Set in Monolithic Wireless' towering corporate headquarters, Will serves as the foil to the antagonists in the campaign by exposing their unfair pricing practices — compared with Freedom Mobile's commitment to giving Canadians more value, more data and no overage fees with Big Gig Unlimited.

"Absolute Zero is going to do for phone affordability what Big Gig did for data affordability in Canada," said McAleese, "and with the billions of dollars we've spent

In addition to making Shaw Mobile even more affordable for Fibre+ Gig customers, Shaw launched a new advertising campaign promoting its position as Western Canada's leader in gigabit internet speeds.

Shaw makes its fastest internet speeds available to more than 99 per cent of its residential and business customers across Western Canada, including all its residential customers in Alberta. With Shaw, customers living in smaller communities such as Pemberton, B.C. or Hinton, Alberta, receive the same gigabit download speeds and improved upload speeds that customers get in major urban centres such as Vancouver or Edmonton.

Shaw's ultrafast gigabit download speeds are available to more than one million more homes than TELUS across B.C. and Alberta.

"With Shaw's gigabit speeds available today to more homes than any other provider in Western Canada, more families can enjoy the speed and capacity they need," Mr. McAleese said.

Shaw can broadly deliver the speeds and capacity to meet the needs of today's data-centric customers because of critical and foundational investments in its network. Over the past seven years, Shaw has invested nearly $30 billion to build, upgrade, and expand its Fast LTE and Fibre+ networks and services to provide a seamless connectivity experience to customers in the communities it serves.

More information, including a complete list of pricing and packaging for Shaw Fibre+ Internet plans and Shaw Mobile plans, can be found at shaw.ca/internet and shaw.ca/mobile.
